The grandfather clock

ticked on.

"I'll get you yet!" Tobias

Skookers hissed between his teeth, as he pursued the search. And then, looking hastily about to see if any one listened, he added,

"Durn ye!"

The other answered nothing, but, clutching the eager fingers that clutched convulsively in the rear, managed to roll just in time beneath the room's only bed.

"Ah!" shrieked Tobias Skookers.

"Now I've got you where I want you! You will rue this day! The Drawing from its scabbard the rusty sword that his grandfather stabbed under the bed.

The other made no sound, but at the fifth stab rolled out of Tobias

Skookers' feet and lay there motionless.

The other was a collar button.

HAMILTON PREPARED FOR MATRIMONY AND TROUBLE

American Lumber Company Employee Walking Arsenal When Seized By Police; Is Fined Sixty Dollars.

Penitent and weeping, Frank Hamilton, an employee of the American Lumber company, was before Judge Craig this morning charged with carrying deadly weapons.

Hamilton was arrested last night by Policemen Vaughn and when searched was found to be the proud possessor of one Russian model .44-caliber revolver at least half a yard long; one .38-caliber Smith & Wesson revolver, and one pair of ugly looking brass knuckles. The prisoner was also wearing a new leather cartridge belt loaded with caliber .44 cartridges.

The policeman first noticed Hamilton, who is an inoffensive appearing citizen, seated at the lunch counter of a Central avenue restaurant. The officer was across the street and from that distance detected the gleaming barrel of the heavier piece of artillery protruding from beneath the coat of the diner. Entering the restaurant the policeman gently inquired if Mr. Hamilton was not armed. An evasive answer resulted in a quick frisk and part of the arsenal stood revealed.

The prisoner was escorted to the police station and in answer to questions said that he expected to be married shortly; likewise he expected trouble and therefore had prepared himself for the worst. A plain gold ring and twenty-one dollars in cash were found on the prisoner. Hamilton at first talked bravely and said he was prepared to die now as well as at any other time, but when the calaboose door clanged behind him he fell to weeping and was still weeping when led before the judge this morning. In court the prisoner had little to say beyond the statement that he found the brass knuckles on the street. He was not intoxicated when arrested.

Hamilton paid his fine and was released this afternoon.

ELOQUENT SERMON BY EVANGELIST LAST NIGHT

Elder Watts Takes for His Subject "For the Son of Man Is Come to Save That Which Was Lost."

Elder Watts last night at the Seventh Day Adventists tent in Luna park preached from Matt. 18:11, "For the Son of Man Is Come to Save That Which Was Lost."

The evangelist from this text gives a very beautiful account of the Garden of Eden and all the perfection which surrounded the sinless pair in that perfect place wherein was the tree of life and all things needed for happiness. This was lost by disobedience. But Christ has come to restore to earth to his former glory and man through faith, in the physical, mental and moral state in which he was created. The minister said there will be no deserts in that fair land; no storms to mock; no needs to annoy. There will be no blind there, nor deaf; no more funerals for the inhabitants of that new earth are never sick and there will be nothing to molest or make them afraid.

The earth is the only planet which rebelled against the rule of the creator, so it is the only one over which Satan has any rule. Since he was cast out of heaven he and his angels have devoted their time to this earth, causing the discord and suffering here, but soon his reign will be over, and this will again be a land of joy and peace.

The sermon which was impressive in the extreme was listened to with the deepest attention by the congregation present.

Tonight Elder Watts will have for his subject "The Home of the Saved. Where Will I Be? Who Will Be There?"

A cordial invitation is extended the general public to attend these services.

IMPORTANT

is an inadequate term by which to express the value to one of one's eyes. The worth, to their owner, of a good pair of eyes cannot be expressed in terms of money; yet many people decide themselves with the idea that the man who sells GLASSES "cheap"—which means the man who sells the cheapest glasses—is the best place to buy—and never realize, perhaps until irreparable harm has been done, what a fearful price has been paid for "cheapness."

OUR SERVICES AND OUR GOODS

are not of the expensive variety of cheapness. We use scientific methods in the refracting of the eyes, and

FIRST CONVICTION HERE UNDER NEW GAMBLING LAW

Quartette Caught in Old Albuquerque Pay $25 Each and Narrowly Escape Jail for Poker Game.

Charles Allen, Hilario Aranda, Salomon Baca and Charlie the Jap, on trial this morning for violation of the celebrated Holt anti-gambling act were each fined $25 and sentenced to serve thirty days in the county jail. Judge Craig suspended the jail sentence on condition of future good behavior and on the further condition that the fines be paid at once.

Allen pleaded guilty and paid his fine at once. The other three men pleaded not guilty but did not offer any testimony to disprove the charge against them. Attorney Modesto Ortiz, who represented the defendants, gave notice of an appeal, but later the men came into court, paid their fines and the appeal was dropped.

The arrest and conviction of the men was the result of a complaint filed by Jesse N. Thompson, known as "Tex." Tex alleged that he was induced to lend $25 and later $10 to Allen and that Allen later used the money to play poker with the other three members of the quartette. Allen lost the money and "Tex" scolding a "frame-up" filed the complaint under the anti-gambling act. Townsend today declared that he had been offered money to leave town and drop the prosecution, but refused, his motive in instituting the prosecution being an unselfish desire for the enforcement of the law and not a desire to recover his money. If this was his object he was certainly successful since the outcome of the case left him without money or his watch which he pawned to secure the last $10 which he claimed to have given Allen.

The conviction of the men today was the first in Bernalillo county under the new anti-gambling law, passed by the last legislature. The new law is more drastic in that it takes in forms of gambling which were exempt from prosecution under the old law, but is milder in that it permits the judge to inflict a fine without a jail penalty. The old law required a jail sentence whether a fine was inflicted or not.

Costly Treatment.

"I was troubled with constipation and indigestion and spent hundreds of dollars for medicine and treatment," writes C. H. Hines, of Whitlow, Ark. "I went to a St. Louis hospital, also to a hospital in New Orleans, but no cure was effected. On returning home I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets, and worked right along. I used them for some time and am now all right." Sold by all druggists.
